THE SPRING MIGRATION.

The migration to the northwest this Spring promises to exceed in volume the great movement of last year. In many places in Pennsylvania and in Ohio we hear of associations being formed of men who intend to go to Dakota with their families, and who are holding weekly meetings to determine on locations for settlement and to make arrangements for low rates of transportation. Railroad agents in Europe send reports of an unprecedented demand for passage tickets in advance of the usual dates for the season's business to begin. The Canada papers speak of another great exodus to Dakota and Manitoba as sure to take place this year.

There promises to be a very large movement of settlers into Montana, occasioned by the opening of railroad facilities through the whole length of that immense territory. Washington and Oregon also come in for large accessions of population. In fact, a peculiar feature of the emigration movement of 1893 promises to be the distribution of settlers along the line of the new railroad between the Red river of the north and the shores of Puget Sound, a distance of nearly two thousand miles. In all of this immense region, embracing a great variety of climatic conditions, soil and scenery, there is very little land that is not habitable. With the exception of a strip of about a hundred miles, in the great plain of the Columbia between Wallula and Ritzville, the whole of the so-called Northern Pacific belt offers advantages for settlement of one sort or another. The country that is not good for agriculture is valuable for pasturing sheep and cattle, or for lumbering, or for mining coal and the precious metals. Even in the heart of the great mountain system called by the general name of the Rockies, more than two hundred miles wide in Montana and Idaho, there are innumerable valleys where limpid streams run through broad and flowery meadows, and where all the grain and fruit crops flourish.

The advice of the New Northwest to intending settlers in the northwest is not to postpone moving any longer than is necessary. The country is immense, and it will take many years to fill it up; but those that go early will get the best locations and profit most by the rapid development of the region. This year good wheat land can be bought for four dollars an acre east of the Missouri river, and for two and a half an acre west of that stream. Next year it will certainly command a higher price. This year there are many good homestead locations still open within a short distance of railroad lines. Next year it may be hard to get a free slice of Uncle Sam's farm without going at least twenty miles from a station.

The Sierra Buttes Mining Company, has declared a semi-annual dividend of 25c per share, amounting to $30,625. Total dividends to date $1,400,300. The Plumas-Eureka has just paid a semi-annual dividend of 50c per share, amounting to $70,312. Total dividends to date $1,730,300. Both of the above mines are in Northern California, but are owned in London.

A Portland (Oregon) dispatch of May 4 says: Rev. John A. Gray, pastor of the First Baptist Church, who went on a spree some months since, but after apologizing was taken back, has again fallen from grace, and has been drinking heavily for several days. He sent in his resignation on Thursday, which was accepted by the church.

It is understood that the President has signed the commission of Mr. Keim for Chief Examiner under the Civil Service laws, and it will be delivered as soon as the rules are formally approved, unless the Commissioners withdraw their recommendation, which they say they have no thought of doing.

Judge Hoadley, of Cincinnati, who seems likely to receive the Democratic nomination for Governor of Ohio, is a strong Tilden man, and his election, which his friends say can be easily effected, would be a step towards Tilden's nomination next year.

Senator Logan is visiting his stock ranch near Albuquerque, New Mexico. The ranch comprises 80,000 acres and is stocked with 9,000 head of cattle. Mr. Logan intends to increase the number to about 20,000 head.

The California Railroad Commissioners held meetings last week at Colton and San Diego but no complaints were made against the Southern Pacific management.

GRANT AND CONKLING.

Our Mexican Relations—A Very Bore Sultwart.

New York, May 8.—At a dinner given by the Saturday Night Club at the Brunswick Hotel last evening General Grant made a speech. He spoke earnestly on the subject of the relations between this country and Mexico. He said he had taken a very deep interest in the cultivation of friendly relations with our Southern neighbor. The United States had heretofore neglected this neighbor, who was capable of great development. Her resources were simply wonderful, and the speaker hoped henceforward, no matter which party was in power in this country, the most intimate relations would be maintained between the great and little republics of this continent. "We must take our neighbor under our wing," said General Grant, "and help her to cultivate her own great resources, teaching her that it is for her best interests to maintain a close alliance with the United States. There are all of the essential elements of unlimited prosperity in the two countries, and the United States and Mexico, united in a friendly alliance, could be so strong that, in case a combined war should be made upon them by all other countries they would be able to shut themselves in their shell and sustain themselves longer than the people attacking them could do without their products."

Roscoe Conkling also spoke. He referred to the pleasure he felt in listening to General Grant's words concerning the importance of the cultivation of the most intimate relations with our neighboring republic, and at seeing the soldier-statesman present upon this occasion and noting the earnestness and sound judgment with which he was urging the forming of closer relations between the United States and Mexico. The speaker was led to contemplate many things that General Grant had done for his country. The ex-Senator's mind carried him back to the Chicago Convention, at which an unsuccessful attempt was made to nominate Grant for President. That was a convention to which 420 of the delegates were sent for a specific purpose—not instructed merely, but bound in honor to God and man to discharge certain obligations, and those obligations were to vote for the nomination of General Grant for President of the United States. "I believed, as firmly as I believe anything," said the speaker, earnestly, "that the results of that Convention have held this country back ten years. Yes, that day's work has cost this nation in progress fully ten years." Conkling said that the Democrats were about to take control of the country. Two years ago the Republican party came out of a stormy fight, a battle victorious from sea to sea, north of Mason and Dixon's line. It fought the greatest political battle ever fought. It was a battle heavily weighted, but the Republicans rallied under their leaders and gloriously won. That was but two years ago, and now the speaker could think of but three of the Northern States in which the Republicans were victorious.

Attending to the growth and resources of Mexico, Conkling said it might be that the ex-President of the United States would be recognized as the leader of a great Government to help the Republic of Mexico to develop its resources and to bring about a national commercial union of the two countries. "But I do not know as I ought to use the word 'leader,'" said Conkling, sarcastically. "The word 'leader' is a term of opprobrium and epithet nowadays. To be a leader now is to be a boss, and there is no end of men who think it desirable to deride and pull down bosses. The so-called fight against bosses emanates in particular from that class of men given to raid upon superiority. I want to me a 'boss,' and I will show you a man who, by virtue of his ability, deserves to be a boss."

The ex-Senator said he hoped some of the statesmen who were undertaking to shape the affairs of this country would find time to consider the $100,000,000 of trade that awaited development in the republics south of us. In concluding his remarks he said that many of those who were influential in shaping the affairs of our Government were "merely playing push-pin over the rot and rubbish of low, tricky politics." Conkling's remarks elicited no demonstration whatever.

The Commissioner General of the Land Office is daily receiving a large number of inquiries regarding the status of various land grants. This seems to be the effect of the equivocal position of the last Congress relative to the disposition of public lands and land grants to railways, as well as to the many decisions of the Secretary of the Interior on these subjects. There seems to be very general expectation that many of these grants will be declared forfeited, and thousands are ready to enter as soon as they are thrown open to the public domain. These inquiries come from Michigan, California, New Mexico, and from along the Northern Pacific road, and seventeen clerks in the railway division of the General Land Office are kept constantly busy arranging them.

Gibsonville is the liveliest mining camp in Northern Sierra now. It is said that more prospecting will be carried on in that vicinity this Summer than has been done for several years past.

Strawberries sell for ten cents a quart at retail at Newcastle, Placer county. The best strawberries in California are produced in the vicinity of Newcastle.

Eggs in Salt Lake City are now selling at six and a half dozen for a dollar.

New York's Governor Breaks With Tammany Hall.

The New York Sun's Albany special says: Governor Cleveland's break with Tammany overshadows all other interesting events attending the final adjournment of the Legislature. Predictions are made by some that it is an affair of a week, while others prophesy a repetition of the fight of 1879 on Governor Robinson. The trouble between the Governor and Tammany Democrats has been brewing ever since Cleveland took office. The first unpleasant event was the Governor's refusal to appoint Purcell, editor of the Rochester Union, a Kelly man in sympathy, on the Railroad Commission; next a Tammany sympathizer was refused the appointment of superintendent of the Onondago salt springs. The Tammany people pressed ex-Judge Cowan, of Saratoga, a friend of John Kelly, for Court of Claims Commissioner, and was again refused. Last of all, Tammany's candidate for Emigration Commissioner, Judge Spencer, was passed over and the place awarded to a friend of Boss McLaughlin, of Brooklyn.

The Commercial violently attacks Governor Cleveland for his course toward Tammany, and says: "For the first time in the history of this State we have seen the Chief Executive go into the capitol and endeavor to usurp the functions of a co-ordinate branch of the government. It may be that this rupture can be bridged over, but it looks very much as though New York was lost to the Democratic party."

HONOR.

Your word is as good as the bank, sir.—Holcroft.

Act well your part; there all the honor lies.—Pope.

See that you come not to woo honor, but to wed it.—Shakespeare.

No one ever lost his honor except he who had it not.—Publius Syrus.

The journey of high honor lies not in smooth ways.—Sir P. Sydney.

The highest honor a human being is capable of is to preserve a spotless name.

When vice prevails, and impious men bear away, the post of honor is a private station.—Addison.

Discretion and hardy valor are the twins of honor, and nursed together, make a conqueror; divided, but a talker.—Baumont and Fletcher.

Honor is like the eye, which cannot suffer the least impurity without damage; it is a precious stone, the price of which is lessened by the least flaw.—Bossuet.

Honor hath three things in it—the vantage ground to do good, the approach to kings and principal persons, and the raising of a man's fortune.—Bacon.

The Athenians erected a large statue of Theseus, and placed him, though a slave, on a lasting pedestal, to show that the way to honor lies open indifferently to all.—Phegrius.

Let none presume to wear an undeserved dignity. O, that states, degrees and offices were not derived corruptly, and that clear honor were purchased by the merit of the wearer.—Shakespeare.

IMITATION BAKING POWDERS.

To THE PUBLIC: The public is cautioned against the practice of many grocers who sell what they claim to be Royal Baking Powder, loose or in bulk, without label or trademark. All such powders are base imitations. Analyses of hundreds of samples of baking powders sold in bulk to parties asking for Royal have shown them all to be largely adulterated, mostly with alum, dangerous for use in food, and comparatively valueless for baking purposes.

The public is now well aware of the injurious effect of alum upon the system, to need further caution against the use of any baking powders known to be made from this drug; but the dealer's assurance, "Oh, it's just as good as Royal," or "It's the genuine Royal, only we buy it by the barrel to save expense of can," etc., is apt to mislead unsuspecting consumers into buying an article which they would not knowingly use in their food under any consideration. The only safety from such practices is in buying baking powder only in the original package, of a well known brand, and a thoroughly established reputation.

The Royal Baking Powder is sold only in cans, securely closed with the Company's trade-mark label, and the weight of package stamped on each cover. It is never sold in bulk, by the barrel, or loose by weight or measure, and all such offered the public under any pretense, are imitations.

If consumers will bear these facts in mind, and also see that the package purchased is properly labeled, and the label unbroken, they will be always sure of using a baking powder perfectly pure and wholesome, and of the highest test strength in the market.

The Man Who Was Roasted Alive in the Wadsworth Jail.

The man giving his name as William Nash, who was burned to death in the Wadsworth jail last week, formerly lived in Virginia City. The Chronicle says "his right name was John Hayes. He was honorably discharged from the United States army and had the papers to that effect. While here he was in jail twice during last month for drunken conduct. He was in receipt of a pension of $24 a month."

Settled.

The Evans' slander case was amicably adjusted yesterday, and the suit will be dismissed.

Sieglar Springs.

Frank V. McCallough, so long known in Ormby county, says the Carson Index, is at present the proprietor and boniface of Sieglar Springs, in Lake county, California. It is about 35 miles from Calistoga, in Napa county, and the route is by stage from that point. The location is a singularly beautiful one on the eastern side of the coast range, and its attractions are such that it is eagerly sought by invalids and pleasure seekers. It takes just about 24 hours to reach the Springs when a passenger leaves Carson on the evening train. Frank and his good wife are very pleasantly situated and have during the two months of their stay largely increased the accommodations for guests. Not only do they run a nice hotel but they have a number of neat cottages for families and parties who prefer rustic life, and the luxuries afforded by Nature in the style "of a lodge in some vast wilderness." We cannot well imagine a more congenial host and hostess than Frank and his wife. If any Carsonite has a little superfluous change upon which to rustle for health and pleasure, he cannot do a neater thing than to hunt up Frank McCallough and Sieglar Springs.

Indian Scare Up North.

The JOURNAL is in receipt of a letter from a friend at Fort Bidwell in which it is stated that the Indians in Warner Valley, 35 miles north of Bidwell, are getting saucy. Newton Roberts, G. W. Mafes' foreman, has removed his family to Bidwell, and D. R. Jones, living 50 miles north of Bidwell, has moved his family to Lakeview, Oregon. The Indians are said to be acting just as they did before the breaking out of the Bannock war, and they say the Harvey Indians, 180 miles north of Bidwell, are going to fight, but that they themselves are not going to. The JOURNAL's correspondent adds: "We hear or see nothing among them here that looks like it, except that some of the head ones here have been sent for to go down to Eagleville to see Captain Dick, and Leo Winnemucca, who is said to be at Buffalo."

The Insane Asylum.

It is rather strange that the Insane Commissioners who visited the Asylum last week published no report in the Reno papers of what they found and what they did not. There is more anxiety felt concerning that institution and its present workings than the gentlemen comprising the honorable Board imagine and especially so at this time; hence it might be well for the members to advise the public as to what is going on.—Carson Tribune.

Correct, as far as it goes, but the Carson papers can also do a good service by publishing the monthly expenses of the institution, the figures for which can be easily obtained if they will only send a reporter to the Treasurer's office. A monthly report of the money paid out on account of the Asylum or Prison would be interesting to taxpayers, not only at the Capital, but in all other sections.

Important Patent Suit Decided.

The U. S. Supreme Court rendered a decision Monday in the patent case of Robert L. Downton, appellant, against the Yeager Milling Company, which involves the question of the validity of a patent on what is known as the new process for making flour by crushing grain between rollers. The Court holds that the patent is void for want of novelty; the process which the appellant claims as his invention having been clearly described as early as 1847 in a publication called "Anglo-American and Swiss Science Milling," by Christian Wilhelm Fritsch, of Leipzig. The decree of the Circuit Court dismissing the bill is affirmed.

Shooting at Lake City.

Last evening a shooting affray took place at Lake City. Chas. Striker kept goats, which his neighbors did not like, and one of them, named Delaney, went to tearing down Striker's fence. Striker went out to stop him, when Delaney fired at him with a pistol. Striker then shot three times, one shot going through Delaney's arm, another under the ear, and the third striking in the forehead, killing Delaney instantly. Striker is represented as a very peaceable old man. Delaney is a new comer. Justice Sanders, of Fort Bidwell, went down and held an inquest. Striker was acquitted.

No Use for Them.

Concerning Certain Relics of the Past—Dogs That Have Had Their Day.

George Stephenson's "Rocket," and the magnificent locomotives of to-day, are built upon the same general principle, yet the machine with which the great engineer astonished his age, is interesting now only as an illustration of the beginning of the invention. There were plasters with holes in them long before BENSON'S CAPSULE POROUS PLASTER surprised both the public and the physicians; and the triumph of the Capsule is founded upon the partial successes, or the utter failure of its predecessors. Everything of value in the old porous plaster is retained in the Capsule; but at this point all comparison ends, and contrast begins. For example:

The old plasters were slow in their action, the Capsule was quick and sure.

The old plasters lacked the power to do more than to impart slight, temporary relief in cases of easy of treatment; the Capsule penetrates the system and permanently cures the troubles for which it is recommended.

The old plasters depended for any good results they might attain, upon an accident of their makers and the naked faith of their wearers, the Benson's reaches its ends by means of the scientific combination of the rare medicinal ingredients which it contains.

In brief, the old plasters, like Stephenson's discarded engine, are switched off the track while the Benson's goes on its way winning golden opinions from all sorts of people.

Yet in this very fact lies the leading danger to the people who buy and use this reliable and scientific remedy. "Hypocrisy is the tribute vice pays to virtue." Imitation is the concession failure makes to success. Benson's Plasters are paraded in name and style.

Beware of swindlers. The genuine have the word CAPSULE cut in the center. Price 25 cents. Seabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.
